Auction conduct conditions

Introduction
Words in black type have special meanings, which are defined in the Glossay.
The catalogue is issued only on the basis that you accept these auction condict conditions.  (f) treat a contract as repudiated if the buyer fails to sign a sale memorandum or pay a deposit as required by these auction conduct conditions.

 A2.2. Our decision on the conduct of the auction is final.

 A2.3. We may cancel the auction, or alter the order in which lots are offered for sale. We may also combine or divide, lots. A lot may be sold or withdrawn from sale prior to the auction.

 A2.4. You acknowledge that to the extent permitted by law we owe you no duty of care and you have no claim against us for any loss.

 Where there is a reserve price the seller may bid (or ask us or another agent to bid on the seller's behalf) up to the reserve price but may not make a bid equal to or exceeding the reserve price, you accept that it is possible that all bids up to the reserve price are bids made by or on behalf of the seller.

 Where a guide price (or range of prices) is given that guide is the minimum price at which, or range of prices within which, the seller might be prepared to sell at the date of the guide price, but dide price will normally be at or above any reserve price, but not always as the seller may ffix the final reserve price price just before bidding commences.

 The particulars and other information

- final teserve price just before bidding commences.

 The particulars and other information.

You need to check that the information in the particulars is correct. If the special conditions do not contain a description of the lot, or simply refer to the relevant ton number, you take the risks that the description contained in the particulars is incomplete or inaccurate, as the particulars have not been prepared by a conveyancer and are not intended to form part of a legal contract. The particulars and the sale conditions may change prior to the auction and it is your responsibility to check that you have the correct versions. If we provide information, or a copy of a document, provided by others we do so only on the basis that we are not responsible for the accuracy of that information or document.
